01. FUD Information

FUD is often referred to as Fear, Uncertainty or Doubt and does not just emerge on the financial markets, but we do see it in the Cryptocurrency world. FUD doesn't just come alive when markets are bad, it's very much alive when markets are climbing or peaking too.

Let's say a crypto-trader purchased $1,000 worth of Bitcoin last week and this week it's worth $850, there is a tendency to assume that this loss will continue to spiral and that he is yet another victim of the crypto market. Let's say this week Bitcoin is worth $1,200, there is a sense of pride in the crypto-trader's decision making and he reservedly waits on further price hikes.

Nobody knows what way the market is going to go at any stage regardless of the amount of analysis conducted. However, there are large crypto influencers who can sway the market in one direction or another. If a crypto-trader can predict an upward spiral, then he is at ease with his investment and time is on his side. There are certain things the crypto-trader can look out for that may put his mind at ease and reduce his risk of loss. These factors will be discussed below and should be considered when purchasing Aegeus Coin (AEG).

Seasoned crypto-traders know that the best time to purchase a coin is when the price is at its lowest. This will allow them to reduce their risk more effectively and profit sooner with any increase of the coin price. Purchasing at a higher price-point does increase this risk somewhat. Needless to say, FUD can be present in any coin at any time and at any life-stage of that coin. Even experts get it wrong but we want to provide our network users and coin investors' helpful information so that they can comfortably relax and reduce the mental and financial risks associated with crypto-trading.

In Crypto, FUD is mainly another individual's opinion based on information they have, either observed personally or heard through a grapevine of some sorts. It does not always mean it's accurate. FUD must always be taken with a pinch of salt and here is a list of ways that can be adhered to, to lessen the effect FUD has on Aegeus.

As excited as one may be about Aegeus, all should only purchase an amount of AEG with the knowledge that there may be some loss associated with it. Every purchase of AEG should be done with the foundational understanding that 'I may not get this Bitcoin or FIAT cash back if I purchase AEG'. Starting with this philosophy will significantly lessen your risk and mental turmoil. Take these into consideration:

01.1.Knowledge

Knowledge is critical to becoming successful. Being able to distinguish between true and false stories can have a direct impact on a healthy profit or a loss. We advise all our users to plug into our communication channels to ensure that any of the information they come across is straight from the horse's mouth and accurate on all fronts. If there was an AEG coin purchase and there is a slight decline or a solid decline, keep calm and do not sell in a rush. Often patience is the key to success in this space. It's always very likely that after a downward spike or even a crash, the coin will retrace and climb back again. Always be patient and never make a rash decision.

01.2.Reduce the clutter!

Instead of listening to everybody and anybody about what is going to happen to the coins performance, try and limit it down to only the well-experienced crypto traders. If that is not possible, then don't go asking anonymous people for their advice as this could end up being counter-productive. “Keep your eyes in front of you and your ears to the ground and ensure your information is correct at all times.”

02. Get Educated

If uncertain about certain trading activities or movements within the crypto-space, do some research. For example, read the the article, “From Noob to Whale in 3 Minutes”.

This article contains a lot of information about some of the most popular influential factors that can sway coin prices one way or the other.

We want all our Aegeus users to enjoy their experience with us and do not want people to lose their cool if and when the markets change. Change can favour users one time or another time so keep solid, calm and always maintain things in the right perspective. A patient man can have everything he wants. Just because a price can go down today does not mean it won't go up again in a few days. Engaging with a serious cryptocurrency that has a dedicated team, vision, purpose, operating community structures in place and realistic roadmaps reduces risks significantly. These are usually much safer coins to be engaged with, whether you are a newbie or experienced crypto-trader.
